Crayons to Classrooms Launches New Website - www.dc2c.org

... the organization's new and improved website will be an essential tool used by everyone involved with Crayons to Classrooms

Dayton's Crayons to Classrooms (DC2C), a "free store" for teachers, is pleased to announce that its website was recently renovated giving donors, teachers, and volunteers a central place to visit and find essential information and answers to any questions they may have about the organization.

Steve Rubenstein, executive director of DC2C, said, "The staff and Board of Directors of DC2C are very excited about the changes to our website. The site now provides links to all DC2C social media accounts, recent news and events, the organization's e-newsletter, how to contact the staff of DC2C, etc. Information such as a list of eligible schools, teacher testimonials, and the latest and greatest of what is happening inside and outside of the organization will be shared through various venues on the website."

Not only will the renovated website be very helpful and easy to use, it also has a new updated look. Through the help of Alexis Branham, the website has been completely revamped to better serve the staff of DC2C and the teachers, donors, and volunteers with whom they are fortunate enough to work. The new website is set up so that it can be easily updated, guaranteeing the most recent and current news and information that DC2C has to offer.
